WILL REMOVE BUST OF ANDREW JACKSON

Statue of Famous General Will Adorn Corridor.

The bust of Andrew Jackson which has stood in Court square for many years, is to be removed to the main rotunda of the Shelby county courthouse. The formal removal will take place on Jan. 8, the anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans.

Exposure to the weather has caused a slight crack to appear in the chin. C. H. Neihaus, famous sculptor, upon the occasion of a visit to Memphis some time ago declared that the work was one of the best he had ever seen and that it should by all means be removed to a place where it could be protected from rain and weather.

The matter was taken up with the park commission by L. M. DeSausure, secretary, and he was instructed to confer with the county commissioners relative to placing the bust in the courthouse. Their consent was readily given and the removal ordered.

The bust was placed in Court square in the early 50's, before the war between the states, by J. T. Parish and others. It was designed by John Frazer, a celebrated artist of New York.

Buntyn Will Offer Site For Location Of New University

Buntyn citizens have launched an aggressive movement to obtain the location of the new Southwestern Presbyterian college in that community, and will offer several desirable sites in the vicinity of the Tennessee State Normal school.

A mass meeting was held at the Messick high school building Friday night, and an organization was perfected to wage the campaign for the location of the college. Several sites were discussed, one just east of the Normal school, and another, the Squire J. A. Heard place, east and southeast of the Normal school.

Workers are already out raising funds for the purchase of a site to offer to the trustees of the college. One woman reported that through her individual efforts, she had taken subscriptions totaling $2,250.

Dr. A. A. Kincannon, president of the State Normal school, was named to head a committee on ways and means of locating the college at Buntyn. Members of Dr. Kincannon's committee are E. J. Gray, C. E. Douglas, Squire J. H. Heim, Squire J. A. Heard, C. E. Cox, W. T. Gowan and J. D. McDowell.

J. E. Holmes made an address, presenting the matter of the college and what it would mean to Buntyn to secure the location of the institution. Rev. Paul F. Williams, of St. John's Episcopal church, was appointed publicity manager for the campaign.

Another mass meeting will be called, probably Friday, Nov. 12, at the auditorium of the Normal school.

Nashville Boys Will Be Given Hearty Welcome

Plans are being made by the entertainment committee of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce for the entertainment of the directors of the Nashville Commercial club, when the latter visit the local chamber next Friday.

Breakfast at the Hotel Chelsea, an automobile ride through the city, on which the visitors will be shown through the parks, along the Parkway and one or two of the larger industrial plants, and luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce at noon will constitute the morning program.

In the afternoon the visitors will be furnished with tickets to all local theaters and turned loose to work their wills upon the people of Memphis.

At 6:30 in the evening the visitors will be banqueted at the Chamber of Commerce building. President H. K. Ellis, of the Chamber of Commerce, will deliver an address of welcome at this meeting and H.
